

YOU WERE WISE
TO LOWER YOUR DEFENCES

1 Month Together

THE FIRST OF MANY MORE

My beautiful Songbird, every moment of this month was a new experience to me.
Meeting you and getting to learn more about the woman I love has been so fun.

I Love You and Only You
"In sickness and in health"

My beloved Robyn, my beautiful little bird,

Happy 1-month anniversary, my love. This first month hasn't been easy you were sick, and I know I can be a bit of a worry-wart, but only because I hate seeing you in pain. Still, even in the hardest moments, you've been the brightest star in my galaxy.

You must be part Jedi, because you've definitely used the Force on my heart. And no matter the distance between us, I'll always be here, you're truly the Obi-Wan for me.

When I disappeared the other day and saw how worried you were, it made me happier than Han finally finding Chewie again. It showed me just how much we mean to each other. Honestly, forget the Death Star, your smile is the real superweapon.

One month may be just the beginning, but with you by my side, this is the way... and I can't wait for all the months and years to come.

With all my love (and a few stormtrooper-level missed shots at being smooth),
Ryan your Skaapie <3

You're the best thing I never knew I needed.

